"The InventHelp People" can assist you in trying to submit your inventions or new product ideas to industry in an attempt to attain a good faith review. We do not promise that you can obtain profits from our efforts. (If anyone promises you profits, they're fooling you – we encourage inventors to read InventHelp's Scam Alert for expanded coverage on this.) For more information about who we are and how we do business, please see our Invention Submission FAQ page and our "Honest Invention Company" section.

InventHelp has made its corporate headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania for over twenty years. In addition to helping inventors try to submit their ideas to companies we refer clients to a licensed patent attorney for invention patent services. We also make it a priority to take an active role in community outreach programs. Whether it's collecting for the Salvation Army Food Drive or hosting blood drives for the Central Blood Bank, "The Invent Help People" are always eager to lend a helping hand to those in need. To read more about our company's participation in these charitable events, please visit the InventHelp Community Service section of our Web site.

InventHelp gives no patent advice. It is advisable that you seek such advice from an independent patent attorney.
